CONFERRING OF DEGREES
HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Wednesday, 9 December, 1992, 1.45 p.m.

THE UNIVERSITY OF
NEW SOUTH WALES

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The Mace is a symbol of the dignity and authority of the University.

Originally it was a weapon capable of breaking through the strongest armour and, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, was carried in battle by mediaeval bishops so as to conform to the canonical rule that forbade priests to shed blood. Later, maces began to have a ceremonial function, though they were still intended to provide protection, usually to the king's person, and were carried by sergeants-at-arms.

The University's Mace is of simple form, constructed of stainless steel and embellished with silver. The head, of sixteen satin-finished stainless steel ribs, is surmounted with a silver waratah, the floral emblem of the State of New South Wales, and on its horizontal bar are mounted four silver shields, two engraved with the arms of the University and two with the arms of the State. The inner core has a scarlet velvet lining.

The shaft is of eumung, a New South Wales timber, dark in colour, and terminates in a stainless steel tail.

The Mace was presented to the University on 6 December 1962 by the Broken Hill Proprietary Company Ltd.

THE HISTORY AND SIGNIFICANCE OF ACADEMIC DRESS

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all 'Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors' of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. It is still a vexed question whether academic dress finds its sources chiefly in ecclesiastical or in civilian dress. Gowns may have been counted necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by mediaeval scholars, and the hood currently in use is the remnant of a garment, also a device against the cold, which could be pulled up over the head and kept in position with the tail wound around the throat. The type of academic headgear most commonly worn by graduates today is the mortar-board cap, also called the trencher cap, which dates back to the seventeenth century. It is also the custom of many universities for Doctors to be allowed to wear a distinctive type of headgear, either a round velvet bonnet or a black velvet mortar-board, with the full dress gown.

As universities developed throughout the Commonwealth countries they mostly prescribed academic costume based on that established for the members of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, where the Chancellors and often other senior members wear a distinctive official gown and hat. Graduates are identified by the wearing of a gown and hood specially prescribed for each degree, and undergraduate students wear a distinctive gown and hat.

Notwithstanding the importance of the Oxford and Cambridge tradition of the gown and cap, it is the wearing of a hood by the graduate to indicate his or her degree which is the principal feature of the academic costume code.

The tradition of wearing academic dress continues in universities around the world and it is customary that on ceremonial occasions such as the Conferring of Degrees Ceremony today that the distinctive official costume of each person concerned be worn.

THE BAND OF THE CORPS OF OFFICER CADETS

BANDMASTER: Warrant Officer Class 2 G. W. Palfrey

BAND CADET CAPTAIN: Midshipman R. L. Phillips

DRUM MAJOR: Officer Cadet C. J. Cornell

The Band of the Corps of Officer Cadets was established to provide music for ceremonial parades, functions and other activities held at the Australian Defence Force Academy. The COOC Band consists of officer cadets from the three services and is run on a volunteer basis.

The origin of the COOC Band dates back to early 1986, starting as a Drum Corps, consisting of four side drummers and a bass drummer. In June of that year a full time Bandmaster provided by the Australian Army Band Corps was appointed. With the recruitment of both brass and woodwind players, a Military Band was soon raised.

The first engagement saw the COOC Band provide the musical support to the Defence Academy's weekly parade. A memorable day for the Corps of Officer Cadets. The Band now performs regularly at various functions held at the Defence Academy.

The Band rehearses four mornings a week for 30 minutes and maintains a strength of approximately 50 members, all of whom enjoy the opportunity of being able to continue their interest in music.
