Conferring of Awards Humanities and Social Sciences

Welcome from the Vice-Chancellor and President

Congratulations on your graduation, and welcome to this conferral of awards, our most important of ceremonies.

Gaining a degree is a great achievement. We are proud of the achievements of all the graduates who are here today, and recognise the special contribution each has made to the life of the University.

The University also recognises the indispensable role of families and friends who have helped to bring the new graduates to this day of triumph.

The University of New South Wales is considered by many to be Australia's premier university and we are very proud of the quality of our students. The University attracts the best that Australia can offer, and we also bring to our campus a wonderful and diverse cohort of students from throughout the region and the world.

Today you will be admitted into your degree, and become a member of the University. I encourage you to maintain a connection with the University through the Alumni Association. The Association creates opportunities for you to play a part in building one of the great universities of the world.

On behalf of the University, I congratulate you and trust that you will find today's graduation ceremony a celebration of your achievement.

Professor Mark S Wainwright AM
VICE-CHANCELLOR AND PRESIDENT

The University of New South Wales

The University of New South Wales (UNSW) was created in 1949 and has been defined since its inception by strong industry links and a global outlook. UNSW is regarded as Australia's leading international university – renowned for the quality of its graduates and its commitment to new and creative approaches to education and research.

UNSW has ten Faculties including Arts and Social Sciences, the Built Environment, the College of Fine Arts, Commerce and Economics, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Science, the Australian Graduate School of Management (in partnership with the University of Sydney), and University College at the Australian Defence Force Academy in Canberra. There are also more than 70 Schools offering more than 450 academic programs, five institutes under the UNSW umbrella and six teaching hospitals.

UNSW is proud to be a foundation member of the Group of Eight leading research universities in Australia, and the prestigious Universitas 21 international consortium, which reflects its academic standing.

The University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy (UNSW@ADFA)

Located in the national capital, The Australian Defence Force Academy (ADFA) in Canberra is a centre for higher education for the Australian Defence Force.

Within the Academy, The University of New South Wales (UNSW) has established a college, known as UNSW@ADFA responsible for conducting academic programs and research. UNSW@ADFA offers undergraduate programs leading to UNSW bachelor degrees in Arts, Business, Engineering, Science, and Technology. Additionally we offer opportunities for graduate study and research leading to higher degrees, diplomas and certificates.

At UNSW@ADFA our undergraduate students are midshipmen of the Royal Australian Navy and officer cadets of the Australian Regular Army and Royal Australian Air Force, who are in residence at the Academy, and other members of the Australian Defence Force. In addition to their academic studies, officer cadets and midshipmen undertake programs of military training at the Academy and at Service Training Establishments. Registration for postgraduate degrees is available to both military and civilian applicants.

Australian National Anthem

Australians all let us rejoice
For we are young and free;
We've golden soil and wealth for toil,
Our home is girt by sea;
Our land abounds in nature's gifts
Of beauty rich and rare;
In history's page, let every stage
Advance Australia Fair.

In joyful strains then let us sing
Advance Australia Fair.

The University of New South Wales Alumni Association

The University has more than 140,000 alumni living in Australia and in 50 countries around the world. All alumni are members of the Alumni Association, and more than 4,000 have joined the Member Benefit Program of the Association. The Association fosters the participation of alumni in the life of the University and through its engagement of alumni assists in the building of UNSW's financial and reputational capital. There are four international Chapters of the Alumni Association; two interstate Chapters; an active Pioneers Group; and the Alumni Associates, a group of friends of UNSW. UNSW offers you the opportunity to stay in touch with The University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy and the wider University of New South Wales community as well as your fellow alumni and to benefit from that connection.

UNSW@ADFA offers a number of options for graduates to stay in touch with UNSW@ADFA. At UNSW@ADFA graduates can choose to join the UNSW Alumni Association Member Benefit Program which offers exclusive services, activities and discounts for subscribing alumni to add value to their relationship with UNSW. Subscriptions and contributions to the Program help the UNSW Alumni Association support initiatives such as special events, activities, scholarships and awards. For further information visit www.alumni.unsw.edu.au. In addition, Defence personnel, may also choose to join the Academy Graduates Association (AGA).

Academy Graduates Association

The objects of the Association are as follows:

- to foster camaraderie among Graduates of the Australian Defence Force Academy;
- to promote wider community interest in the ideals, objectives and history of the Australian Defence Force Academy by association with service and civilian organisations;
- to provide information and services to Graduates, cadets and other agencies deemed appropriate by the Association; and
- to support other activities in the general interest of the membership of the Association and the Australian Defence Force Academy in keeping with the spirit of the above objectives.

All graduates of the Academy and selected associates can join the Association free of charge. For further information visit www.adfagrad.org

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES

Arms of

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES

Granted by the College of Heralds, London 3 March 1952

In 1994 the University title was added to the Arms to create the University Symbol, shown above.

Heraldic Description of Arms

Argent on a Cross Gules a Lion passant guardant between four Mulletts of eight points Or a Chief Sable charged with an open Book proper thereon the word SCIENTIA in letters also Sable.

The lion and the four stars of the Southern Cross on the Cross of St George have reference to the State of New South Wales which brought the University into being; the open book with SCIENTIA across its page reminds us of its original purpose. Beneath the shield is the motto "Manu et Mente", which is the motto of the Sydney Technical College, from which the university has developed. The motto is not an integral part of the Grant of Arms and could be changed at will; but it was the opinion of the University Council that the relationship with the parent institution should in some way be recorded.

The University Mace

The Mace is a symbol of the dignity and authority of the University. Originally it was a weapon capable of breaking through the strongest armour, and, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was carried in battle by mediaeval bishops so as to conform to the canonical rule that forbade priests to shed blood. Later, maces began to have a ceremonial function, though they were still intended to provide protection, usually to the king's person, and were carried by sergeants-at-arms.

The University's Mace is of simple form, constructed of stainless steel and embellished with silver. The Head, of sixteen satin-finished stainless steel ribs, is surmounted with a silver waratah, the floral emblem of the State of New South Wales, and on its horizontal bar are mounted four silver shields, two engraved with the arms of the University and two with the arms of the State. The inner core has a scarlet velvet lining.

The shaft is of eumung, a New South Wales timber, dark in colour, and terminates in a stainless steel tail. The Mace was presented to the University on 6 December 1962 by the Broken Hill Proprietary Company Ltd.

The History and Significance of Academic Dress

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” of the University of Coimbra wear gowns.

It is still a vexed question whether academic dress finds its sources chiefly in ecclesiastical or in civilian dress. Gowns may have been counted necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by mediaeval scholars, and the hood currently in use is the remnant of a garment, also a device against the cold, which could be pulled up over the head and kept in position with the tail wound around the throat. The type of academic headgear most commonly worn by graduates today is the mortar-board cap, also called the trencher cap, which dates back to the seventeenth century. It is also the custom of many universities for Doctors to be allowed to wear a distinctive type of headgear, either a round velvet bonnet or a black velvet mortar-board, with the full dress gown.

As universities developed throughout the Commonwealth countries they mostly prescribed academic costume based on that established for the members of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, where the Chancellor and often other senior members wear a distinctive official gown and hat. Graduates are identified by the wearing of a gown and hood specially prescribed for each degree and undergraduate students wear a distinctive gown and hat.

Notwithstanding the importance of the Oxford and Cambridge tradition of the gown and cap, it is the wearing of a hood by the graduate to indicate his or her degree which is the principal feature of the academic costume code.

The tradition of wearing academic dress continues in universities around the world and it is customary, on ceremonial occasions such as the Conferring of Awards Ceremony today, that the distinctive official costume of each person concerned be worn.

Academic dress of The University of New South Wales is available for hire or purchase from The UNSW Union. Enquiries: Tel: (02) 9385 7757

University Medal

The University Medal is a recognition by the University of outstanding academic achievement at the undergraduate level. The bronze medal carries on its face an engraving of the Arms of the University and on the reverse, within a wreath of laurels, is engraved the name of the recipient.

Abbreviations of Degrees and Diplomas from UNSW

The correct abbreviations of the awards conferred at today's ceremony are listed in the program. The abbreviation follows the name of the graduate and precedes the abbreviation of The University of New South Wales which is UNSW.

The Music

Band, Pipes and Drums of the Australian Defence Force Academy

BANDMASTER: Warrant Officer Class Two S. Renfrey

BAND COORD: Officer Cadet C. Buckridge

DRUM MAJOR: Officer Cadet A. Francis

When the Australian Defence Academy was in the latter stages of construction in 1985 the Commandant, RADM P.R. Sinclair AO, RAN recommended the establishment of the Academy's own volunteer band, which would be in accordance with the practices of military academies he had visited overseas. Once established, the band would provide the music for all the ceremonial activities and many of the functions held at the Academy. Consultation with the Directors of Music of the three services ensued and consequently, due to its larger size and broader experience base, the Australian Army Band Corps was tasked with providing a Warrant Officer Bandmaster.

The Band became functional with the arrival of the cadet population in January 1986, but at first consisted only of a Drum Corps incorporating four side drums and a bass drum. With the arrival of the Bandmaster in July of that year, a fully operational Military Band was soon established. The instruments used then, and chiefly still in use today, were donated by the professional bands of all three services.

The Band organisation now encompasses nine differing ensembles, tailored to cater for the variant tastes and needs of the Academy. Since inception, the Band's ranks have included bagpipes, making it the only military unit in Australia that combines Pipes and Band on a continuous basis.

The Band organisation of today continues to fulfil, and expand, the diverse ceremonial and musical requirements of the Academy, with no concessions being afforded for the extra time commitment necessary from its members. This enthusiasm, dedication and resulting excellence has seen the group earn itself the richly deserved reputation as a model for military academy bands worldwide.

The concluding statement in the Commandant's Commendation to all members of the Band in December 1996 is a fitting brief on the unit's capabilities, and reads in part:

The performance and professionalism of the Band is always of the highest order and reflects great credit upon its membership and the Australian Defence Force Academy.
