BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

In 1999-2000 nearly 100 interviews with war veterans were recorded as part of production on the Australian at War ABC television series. From that beginning grew a desire to establish a national collection of wide-ranging, filmed interviews with veterans to comprehensively record Australian involvement in wars, conflicts and peace-keeping missions from World War One to Afghanistan. Between 2002-2004 nearly 2000 additional interviews were conducted to create the oral history collection which became the Australians at War Film Archive.

In 2014 UNSW Canberra digitised and made widely accessible this valuable research asset, in keeping with the original project intent to create a public archive for the nation. Users of the site could comprehensively search the interview database which incorporated photographs of interviewees, the transcriptions of their interviews and historical summaries relating to the Archive.

In 2021 further enhancements were undertaken by UNSW Canberra enabling a self-service Archive. The refreshed site offers direct download of digital transcripts, photographs and interview videos that provide an unparalleled resource for historians, students, teachers, researchers, writers, film makers and all Australians interested in our wartime heritage.
